

Dark Mocha Still

Texture glass is created in a furnace at high temperatures, where during firing, it takes the shape of a mold. The Organic series, with eight different textures, is inspired by nature, while the Intaglio series features precise geometric shapes. The glass was treated with a metal coating, and thus we achieved an opaque surface. The Metallic series offers embossed glass in fifteen different colors and metal shades. They are characterized by refined tones and a luxurious surface appearance. Among our texture glass options, you will find solutions for various applications in both private and commercial spaces.

The shown sample is made in the STILL texture. It can be produced in any texture from the Organic or Intaglio series.
